

An Associate of Arts (AA) in Health Care Administration will provide the student with the skills and knowledge necessary to break into the always-growing health care industry.

Along with completing their general study courses students can expect to be introduced to entry-level course in finance, accounting, information technology, business administration and management, and medical office software. These courses will teach the student the current issues facing the medical industry as well as provide them the skills to make a positive difference. With an AA in Health Care Administration, students will have the credentials to enter the field. An AA will also give the student a great transition point for continuing their education with a bachelor degree or higher in a related field. The more education the student completes will better qualify them for higher positions within the competitive and fast-paced industry. This major will prepare you for: An AA in Health Care Administration will give the graduate the credentials required to begin work within the health care industry. Upon completion, students should expect to have improved strength in medical jargon and terminology as well as strong proficiency in the technology and software used. These abilities will qualify them for many entry-level and management opportunities inside the medical industry. Also, an AA will provide the student a good opportunity to continue their education with a bachelor degree in a related field.